

Paw-Paws and Pith Helmets

By MR Bruce V Brislin

Createspace, United States, 2014. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Paw-Paws and Pith Helmets is a look at the lighter side of the life of the people sent out to Africa by the Colonial Office to provide local government in the colonies in the early twentieth Century. It is the story of a rather inept young man who, in order to avoid being sent to Sandhurst by his ambitious father, joins the Colonial Service and is assigned to the Treaty Territory. This is a strip of land along the Rovuma River between Tanganyika and Mozambique where the Portuguese Governors have been experiencing incursions by Germans from Tanganyika who appear to consider it their own little private hunting ground and flagrantly ignore the border. The British are offered the chance to administer the area on behalf of Portugal and Asquith's government seize the opportunity with expectations of ultimately taking over the whole of Mozambique and thereby extending their influence in the region. The hero, Godfrey, finds himself living in the all-male Boma with a disparate group of people from several different sources who seem to share only...

READ ONLINE

[7.32 MB]

Reviews

This publication is amazing. It is definitely basic but shocks in the fifty percent of your publication. You won't feel monotony at anytime of your own time (that's what catalogues are for concerning if you question me).

-- Prof. Kirk Cruickshank DDS

This kind of book is every little thing and taught me to looking ahead of time and a lot more. I am quite late in start reading this one, but better than never. I found out this book from my dad and i encouraged this pdf to find out.

-- Justus Hettinger